

Red Grapes

Did you know?

On average, Americans eat eight pounds of grapes a year!

Grapes are a great source of fiber. Fiber can help keep you feeling full and satisfied throughout the day.

The powdery-white coating you may see on grapes is called bloom. It is a naturally occurring substance that protects grapes